MEMORANDUM FOR: All [REDACTED]

SUBJECT: Publication of Press Scrutiny

1. In our efforts to provide the widest possible dissemination of our product consistent with our mission, we recently undertook a detailed study to determine what limitations restrict publication of press scrutiny materials. After consultation with the [REDACTED], we have decided that there is no persuasive reason to restrict the large bulk of press scrutiny materials to the "OFFICIAL USE ONLY" segments of the Daily Report. We do, however, feel that articles by individuals which are specifically and individually prohibited for republication because of copyright or other privileges should not be published without restriction.

2. To implement this decision we intend, upon your receipt and acknowledgment of this memorandum, to initiate the publication of press scrutiny materials without restriction whenever a specific republication caveat is absent. To guide us in this operation we require that you insert the word "restricted" on a line immediately above the processing indicator whenever materials you forward from press scrutiny are specifically and individually so protected. Please confirm receipt of this memorandum by wire without reference to subject matter to indicate implementation of procedure.

3. The above will apply to material taken directly from newspapers. No change is planned in the handling of material monitored from press service transmits [REDACTED]
